

Would you like to help amplify the voices of young people and help shape and develop future activities for young people in museums? Our Shared Cultural Heritage is an exciting new project that is being delivered in conjunction with the British Council and Manchester Museum. We are looking for 15-20 enthusiastic young people (ages 16-24) to help us recruit a City Project Co-ordinator who will be responsible for working with local communities of South Asian diaspora and their peers with heritage

What we will expect from you as a Museum ambassador:

- Attend a recruitment afternoon on 21st March (1pm-4pm) and recruitment day to be held on 28th March 2019 (10am-5pm) at Manchester Museum, Oxford Road
- Be part of a recruitment task for prospective candidates, involving participation in a workshop activity
- Your honest views on the candidates— we want your opinions and insight

What you will get in return

- A FREE lunch on the day
- A FREE Nandos meal voucher for one (up to a combo meal) and a FREE cinema ticket
- Travel expenses paid for
- A chance to help shape future activities for young people at museums
- Skills development – A chance to develop transferable CV skills such as team work and decision making
- Get meet other like-minded young people and make friends
- Get to go behind the scenes and visit parts of the museum not usually accessible to the general public
- An official letter of acknowledgment from the Museum to state you have helped us as part of our recruitment process (A unique and great addition to job/college and university applications)

How to apply
